

I do not want the State of Indiana to do away with the "no call" policy--even if the 'calls' are from business associations of mine. It is so nice to be able to sit down to dinner and not have annoying telemarket phone calls. I hate those phone calls. They bother you constantly and don't know what the word 'no' means. Those phone calls keep me very upset and disturbed! I was so happy when the no call policy came in effect in Indiana. And I feel it should stay that way! What is the use of having an unlisted phone number, as I do, and still get all those unwanted phone calls. If I need to get in touch with business associates, I will call them myself.
